Presenting confidently at work: How to improve participation of your multicultural staff

Speaking confidently is an important skill to have in a professional setup. World's greatest leaders are great orators. Get connected with your audience by efficient yet simple icebreakers. Learn to influence people positively. Get head-hunted for that next promotion, learn how to share your ideas and have great impact on your team.

In addition to be learning practical strategies to present confidently at work the audience will also take away:

- Engage your audience in an online setup
- Practical strategies to have an impact in a hybrid meeting
- Case study material is culturally relevant
- A copy of guided Confidence journey
- Set of Confidence Affirmations – that really work
